

I am against large media outlets being given the opportunity to own even more stations. Clear Channel, the Wall Mart of media has ended the ability for small stations in local markets to compete. The end result is a voice from a far away across the country who has never seen or cares to see where the signal is transmitted. Lets' stop this now before it becomes next to impossible to find objective reporting and local music.